CONTAMINATION PROGRAM

When contamination is spotted the driver documents the contamination with a photo, which is attached to the account.

A follow-up letter is sent to the customer which includes a photo of the contamination for reference and a list of options available for disposing of non-recyclables. Education materials about what belongs in the recycling cart is also provided. If it's not on the list, it can't be recycled curbside. See below for more information.

- The first two contamination incidents will result in notification letters.
- The third and fourth contamination incidents will result in a notification letter and a fee.
- On the fifth occurrence, the customer receives a letter informing them they have lost their option to participate in the program and the recycling cart is removed.

EXCESS WASTE STICKERS

Have more trash than will fit in your cart? Overfilling carts to the point that the lid will not close may result in extra fees. Included with this calendar and recycling guide are your excess waste stickers. Place a sticker on a trash bag, box or bundle for collection. Size requirements are noted on the sticker. Set items by your trash cart on your regular service day for collection. Stickers cannot be used for recycling.
